

Herculex® and Herculex® XTRA

Herculex I insect protection protects against more above-ground pests than any other trait. It shields your corn against first and second generation European corn borer, Southwestern corn borer and many more insects. It provides superior protection against fall armyworm and is the only in-plant technology that provides protection against western bean cutworm and black cutworm.

In addition to insect protection, corn with the Herculex I trait also provides protection against the herbicide glufosinate (Liberty®) by the use of a bacterial protein, generally referred to as PAT.

HERCULEX® XTRA Insect Protection -- in-plant insect protection against:

- Corn rootworm (western, northern and Mexican)
- European corn borer
- Western bean cutworm
- Black cutworm
- Southwestern corn borer
- Fallarmyworm
- Southern corn stalk borer
- Lesser cornstalk borer
- Sugarcane borer
- Suppression of corn earworm

HERCULEX XTRA works all season long, giving you optimum yield potential, agronomic performance and enhanced plant health. It delivers whole-plant, above and below ground protection all season long. Herculex Xtra is a stacked trait that combines both Herculex I insect protection and Herculex RW rootworm protection. You get the powerful protection against corn borer and corn rootworm, superior protection against fall armyworm and the only in-plant protection against western bean cutworm and black cutworm. Plus, you've got multiple herbicide options to diversify your weed control program. With HERCULEX XTRA, you can count on the ultimate in insect, weed and profit protection.

HERCULEX® XTRA Insect Protection gives you multiple options when it comes to herbicide application. You can diversify your weed control program while still getting superior insect protection for high yields. All HERCULEX hybrids contain LibertyLink® technology,<sup>1</sup> making them tolerant to over-the-top applications of LIBERTY® herbicide.

A wider window of protection

Whether it's early or late-season, HERCULEX XTRA protects your corn against destructive pests all season long.
